Reading Comprehension Can Be Tricky

An exciting conference featuring Dr. Peter Mundy.
Keynote speaker
Dr. Peter Mundy
Dr. Mundy is Distinguished Professor of Education, UC Davis School of Education; and Director for Educational Research at the M.I.N.D. Institute, UC Davis. His keynote, The Learning Difficulties of Autism Spectrum Disorder and Dyslexia will focus on reading comprehension issues for students with Autism and Dyslexia.

Breakout for Educators:
Ruth Bass, speech/language pathologist and owner of Island Therapies. She has adopted an Eleanor Roosevelt saying, “Do one thing every day that scares you”. She has worked in the autism clinic at CSU Northridge, and facilitated social communication groups for children with autism offered through the UCLA Neuropsychiatric Institute.

Breakout for Parents:
David Monkarsh, Ph.D., Clinical Developmental Psychologist. By guiding both the acquisition of cognitive skills and social emotional understanding of self and others, Dr. Monkarsh works to help individuals along the spectrum establish and use practical strategies that enhance their personal competence and integration into the community.

Breakout for Speech/Language Pathologists:
Judy Montgomery, PhD, CCC-SLP; Board Certified Specialist – Child Language, Professor Emeritus Chapman University. Former President of ASHA and CSHA. Author of seven books on child language disorders, reading skills, reading/writing disabilities, and managing dyslexia in children and adolescents.
